Author of THE REALM: Why Influence Isn't Accidental

Pastor · Founder of the Realm AI ecosystem · 30 years turning vision into execution

WHY YOUR AUDIENCE WILL CARE

Most guests talk about influence. Terrence explains why it isn't accidental — and hands your listeners an operating system for it. He's a pastor who builds AI platforms, a 30-year communicator who codes his own systems, and a founder whose Realm Methodology gives ambitious listeners language for the thing they've felt but couldn't name: they have a realm, and nobody taught them to govern it.

CONVERSATION ANGLES

01 Influence isn't accidental

Why chasing platforms fails — and what governing a realm looks like instead.

02 The pastor who builds AI

Faith and technology aren't rivals. How ministry taught him systems thinking.

03 Find your leak

The diagnostic question every leader avoids: where is your momentum escaping?

04 Inspiration to infrastructure

Why great communicators plateau, and the operating-system move that breaks it.

SUGGESTED QUESTIONS

- Q1 You say influence isn't accidental. What do most leaders get wrong about it?
- Q2 What exactly is a "realm" — and how do I know if I'm stuck in the wrong one?
- Q3 You're a pastor who architects AI platforms. How do those worlds talk to each other?
- Q4 Walk us through "Find Your Leak." Where do you usually find the leak?
- Q5 What does it mean to turn inspiration into infrastructure?
- Q6 What's the first move for a listener who wants to start governing their realm today?
